

CASE STUDY

FILM & TELEVISION

Griffith University

www.griffith.edu.au

The Griffith Film School covers programs in film, television, animation, multi-media, digital and media production, and has the highest enrolments in Australia, making it the largest film school in the country.

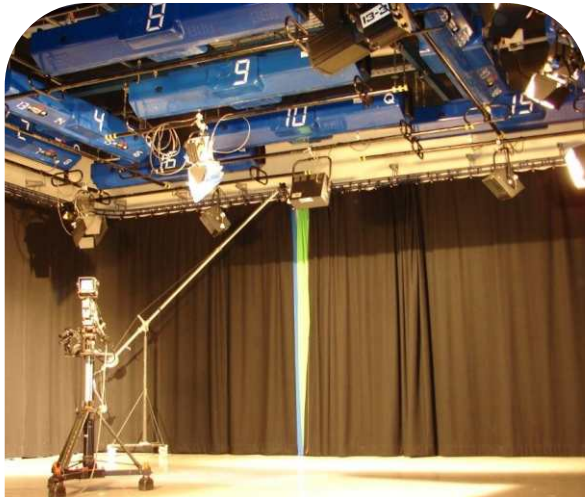

With bachelor programs in Animation and Film and Screen Media and postgraduate programs in Media Production, the Griffith Film School is a candidate member of CILECT (the International Association of Film and Television Schools), one of only three members in Australia.

Programs are offered out of the Queensland College of Art, which celebrated its 125th anniversary in 2006 and is one of Australia's oldest art institutions.

In the past 12 months, Griffith graduates have won 14 prestigious awards in national and international festivals, among countless other festival screenings.
